"For wages, these boys and they are called boys till they die—get some $4 a month, and on this salary my own servant paid 10 per cent to the government, ropported a wife and two children, bought all his own food and ran a fight ing cock. I don t know how much he stole, but he used somet mes to call on me for an advance, saying that is need ed funds to bury some relative. At first I was touched at his less, but after or when he tried to sury this motherization byer, I found it necessary to keep a record of the family tree in order not to be led into paying an advance on the cost of two funerals for the same person."

The New South Wales government analyst, William L. Hamlet, delivered the aresidential address in the section of chemistry at the recent meeting of the Australian Association For the Advancement of Science, the subject being The Melecular Mechanism of an Electrolyte.

He defined an electrolycens a body in solution or state of fusion, carable of being instanteously decomposed by a current of electricity, and he claimed that if the explanation he offered was adequate for the electrolyte it must hold good for the constitution of the matter in the universe, so that the treatise on the electrolyte has a most important scientific bearing. The method of investigating the action of one body upon any other, he reminded his audience, was brought to a high degree of accuracy by the immortal work of Sir Isaao Newton. He alluded to some observations of the late Profesers City. ford, made over 20 years ago, this authority remarking almost proppetically, "We can look forward to the time when the structure and motions in the inside of a molecule will be so well known that some future Kant or Laplace will be able to make an hypothesis about the history and formation of matter."-Natura

The Cavalry Regiment, The sabers clank'd, the men look'd young and healthy and strong; it o elec-tric tramping of so many horses on the hard road, and the gallant bearing, fine seat and bright freed appearance of a thousand and more handsome young Anterican men, were so good to see. An hour later another troop went by smaller in numbers, perhaps 300 men. They, too, look'd like serviceable men, campaigners used to field and fight. July 3—This force on, for more than an hour, again long strings of cavelry, several regiments, very fine men and horses, four or five abreast. I saw them annual pients at McCoy's woods in Fourteenth street, coming in town from north, Soyeral hundred extra horses, some of the mares with colts, trotting along. (Appear'd to be a nom-ber of prisoners too. How inspir ng al-ways the cavalry regiments.
